

Accident proves fatal to 16-year-old student

BY DENA BISNETTE

A high school basketball game was canceled to allow students to attend the Friday night wake of 16-year-old accident victim.

A Friday night game between Bay High and Picayune was called off after the death of Joel Necaise of Rt. 4, Box 257, Bay St. Louis. Better known by the nickname "Joby," Necaise was a sophomore at Bay High, where he was a member of DECA, and had been a lifelong resident of Bay St. Louis.

Necaise died from injuries he received when his motorcycle was struck by a car at about 4:30 p.m. Thursday on Avenue B near Lake Street, Shoreline Park, Sheriff Ronald Peterson stated.

The impact knocked Necaise's Yamaha 750 into a ditch and knocked the youth over the car's hood and into a telephone pole on the other side of the car, the sheriff said.

The teenager suffered massive head injuries despite the fact that he was wearing a helmet, Peterson added.

Mobile Medic Ambulance Service took Necaise to Hancock Medical Center, where he was later pronounced dead.

Peterson said an investigation indicated that a heavy fog was present when the accident occurred and that Necaise was going west on Avenue B, attempting to go around two cars.

The lead vehicle attempted to go left and collided with the motorcycle. Peterson said there have been no charges or citations against the driver, Margaret Albanese of Lake Street.

Deputy Matt Karl is in charge of the investigation into the fatality. He was assisted at the scene by Deputy Greg Lichtenstein. Also assisting was Georgia Haas of Post 58 Volunteer Fire Department.

VANDALS HAVE DESTROYED the electrical control boxes on a sewage lift station behind Domino's Pizza in Bay St. Louis. The destruction was discovered Friday, and, according to Mayor Edward Favre, may cost the city $10,000 to $12,000 to repair if the motors that are part of the lift station have to be replaced. "If an arrest is made, this will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law, including any restitution the city can obtain," the mayor stated. "It's pathetic when people have nothing better to do than destroy city property. These vandals show no concern for the public at all." (Echo staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Indictments include one on capital murder

BY DENA BISNETTE

Among the indictments issued by the Hancock County January Grand Jury already served by the sheriff's department is one on a capital murder charge.

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department began serving the indictments Friday following the issuance of the Grand Jury report earlier in the week, according to Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Geno Tillman of 763 Washington St., Bay St. Louis, was served with the capital murder indictment at the Hancock County Jail. He was arrested in July of 1988 in connection with the shooting death of Charles E. Daniels, 37, of Slidell, La.

Daniels had apparently given Tillman a ride home. His body was later found in a ditch on Keller Street.

Tillman was only 17 years old at the time he was arrested, but due to the nature of the crime, he is being prosecuted as an adult.

Other indictments included two on charges of murder, but because the people charged have not yet been served, the names were not released.

Also served Friday were Jamie Wayne Henry, 605 Bienville Drive, Bay St. Louis, charged with three counts of uttering forgery and three counts of simple forgery; Johnny Jones, Tampa, Fla., one count each of burglary, robbery and grand larceny; Equine Germaine Robinson, New Orleans, La., possession of a controlled substance; and John January, 9283 Harbor Drive, Bay St. Louis, burglary.

Others included Renoir Rhyne Red, New Orleans, possession of controlled substance; Bryan English, Tampa, Fla., one count each of burglary, grand larceny and robbery; Stephen Troy Saucier, Apt. 27, Sycamore St., Bay St. Louis, one count each of aggravated assault and carrying a concealed weapon and two counts each of simple assault on a police officer and jail escape; and Grayling Julius Wilkerson, 140 Sheila Drive, Bay St. Louis, possession of a controlled substance.

In addition to the capital murder and two murder indictments, the 68 true bills handed down by the Grand Jury include one on manslaughter, three aggravated assaults, two rapes and two sexual batteries.

Also included were one armed robbery, two simple assaults on a police officer, 22 assorted drug charges, 10 burglaries, four grand larcenies, two receiving stolen properties, eight forgeries, two felony DUIs and three jail escapes.

Hancock Grand Jury submits suggestions

BY D.C. HARVILL

The January 1990 Grand Jury of Hancock County submitted its report to Circuit Court Judge Kosta N. Vlahos Wednesday afternoon.

The jury, which was in session January 8 through 12, considered a total of 82 cases. Of those cases, 62 true bills and three no true bills were returned. Eleven cases were continued to the next Grand Jury session.

The 62 indictments handed down by the Grand Jury had not been released to the sheriff's department Wednesday afternoon. Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said he expected to receive and begin serving them today.

In response to briefings by county officials and touring county facilities, the jury issued the following recommendations:

TAX ASSESSOR/COLLECTOR

Mr. Eddie Murtagh, Tax Assessor and Collector, discussed the operations of his office with the Grand Jury, which include tax assessing, homestead exemptions, tax collections and E911.

We were informed that his office also maintains topographical maps identifying all property located in the county, including ownership. These maps are available from his office at a nominal cost to Hancock County residents.

Regarding assessments, we were informed that properties were re-assessed on a yearly basis and that his office maintains files on approximately 40,000 properties with an assessed value of $140,000,000.

Mr. Murtagh informed that his office determines the amount of homestead exemption allowable for each eligible taxpayer noting that the maximum is $6,000.

Mr. Murtagh also stated that the total amount of taxes his office collects each year is approximately $11,000,000.

Waveland gets recycling center

BY D.C. HARVILL

Hancock County residents soon will find it easier to participate in the environmentally sensible practice of recycling and can pick up extra cash while doing it.

The Coast's newest recycling buy back center will open February 10 on U.S. 90 across from the Waveland Animal Clinic.

The center is being established by the charitable organization Partners for Global Justice, which operates several such centers elsewhere along the Coast.

Aluminum cans, clear and colored glass, newsprint and certain kinds of plastics will be purchased by the center.

Initially, the center will be open on a limited basis but is expected to extend its hours as business expands.

Joann Northridge of Waveland has been named the local coordinator for the operation. For more information she may be contacted at 467-0908.

The Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant's inclusion on a list of 60 military installations slated for closure came as no surprise to those who have been working to keep the plant in operation.

"I've known all along that the ammo plant has been a target for closure," said Fifth District Rep. Gene Taylor.

The list was made public Monday by Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney.

When visiting the plant two weeks ago, Taylor urged those employed there to write letters to President George Bush in an attempt to keep the facility in operation.

The most pressing challenge at this time, according to Taylor, is to secure $90 million appropriated for the operation of the plant through 1990.

The appropriation was made in 1989 but was not approved. Without the approval the appropriation is meaningless and the plant cannot remain in operation.

In late 1988, the Army announced that the 11-year-old plant would be phased out of operation, with complete shutdown by 1992. The facility, which manufactures armor piercing 155mm anti-personal projectiles, was constructed at a cost of approximately $600 million.

The plant, located at Stennis

Space Center, is operated by a private contractor, Mason Chamberlain, Inc. and employs approximately 1,700 people.

According to government estimates, approximately 300 employees will be retained after the closure to maintain the plant in mothballs.

Mississippi's Washington delegation hopes the $90 million, by keeping the plant on line through fiscal 1990, will allow MCI to procure third party contracts for the projectiles or find a new use for the facility.

"We are getting people out writing letters to Cheney, letting him know how economical-ly important this plant is for the area. We are hoping for the $90 million to give MCI time to get other contracts," said Tad Black, president of UAW local to which about 800 of the plants employees belong.

According to Black, UAW representatives in Washington are busy lobbying in Washington to save the plant.

"We always want to be optimistic. It's kind of hard, but you never know what might happen."

Black credits a letter writing campaign in early 1989 for getting the $90 million appropriated. He hopes the same will be true for the approval.

Senate deadline kills shelter bill

BY DENA BISNETTE

A proposed bill to regulate animal shelters in Mississippi, originally co-authored by two Hancock County residents, died in a state senate committee Tuesday.

Senator Victor Franckiewicz Jr. of Bay St. Louis stated that the bill, a statewide proposal designed to set up standards for animal shelters, was declared dead because no action had been taken by Tuesday's deadline for bills to come out of committees.

Franckiewicz had introduced the bill earlier in the session after obtaining a draft from Dr. Connie Clemons Chevis, a Bay St. Louis veterinarian, and Mary Sindors, a retired attorney.

"I think setting some uniform, humane standards for animal shelters statewide is a pretty good idea," the senator said.

"It's actually a new idea," he added, and new ideas do take some time to catch on."

He said he found no hostility toward the idea from other senators, only concern that having to meet the standards might cause a financial hardship on smaller communities.

The bill contained no methods of providing the money, and Franckiewicz said some senators argued that communities unable to meet the standards would then end up with no animal shelters at all.

"To make this fly, we will probably have to try again with some sort of exemption for cities below 3,000 or 5,000 in population," he said.

Most of the cities the size of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, if they already have animal shelters as Waveland does, would have to take minimal action to meet the standards, he added.

As mayor of Bay St. Louis, Franckiewicz became involved in controversies over the possible expansion of the Waveland Animal Shelter, the break-up of a three-entity commission that once operated the facility and the expulsion of Bay St. Louis and Hancock County from the organization governing shelter operations.

An agreement was finally reached that allows Bay St. Louis and Hancock County to contribute funds to the shelter and use it on a contract basis.

During that time, some efforts to establish an independent shelter were made and a proposed code of standards based on those accepted by the National Humane Society were presented to Franckiewicz for consideration.

Franckiewicz stated that the standards in the proposed bill were basically the same as those approved by the National Humane Society.

The bill itself specified that the standards in it should be in addition to and supplemental to any other authority granted to local governments with regard to operation of animal shelters. However, any local legislation would have had to be consistent with the proposed bill had it actually been enacted.

The bill dealt not only with the shelter environments and problems such as sanitation and disease control, but provided guidelines for choosing shelter employees and punishing violations.

A procession will leave the funeral home at 9:50 and go to St. John's Catholic Church in Gulfport, where Mass will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Entombment will be at 2 p.m. Monday in Hope Mausoleum in New Orleans.

Great Books group to discuss classics

The City-County Public Library invites all adults interested in joining a Great Books discussion group to attend the organizational meeting at the library on Tuesday, Feb. 6 at 7 p.m.

Great Books members meet every other week for approximately two hours to discuss the works they have read since their last meeting.

There are no requirements for membership except an interest in sharing ideas and interpretations of what has been read.

Five separate series of books will be considered by the group over the next several months. Books in these series are representative of some of the best literature written during the past 2,500 years.

A sampling from Series 1 includes Aristotle's On Happiness, Conrad's Heart of Darkness, Book of Genesis from the Bible, Darwin's The Moral Sense of Man and the Lower Animals, and Shakespeare's Othello. Discussions at each meeting are guided by two volunteer leaders.

The Great Books Foundation is an independent nonprofit educational corporation. The local discussion series is being coordinated by Richard McCullough. For further information, call McCullough at 467-6333 or the City-County Library at 467-5282.

The February organizational meeting will be in the library's meeting room, Ulman Street entrance, at 7 p.m.

Free legal advice offered Feb. 7

On Wednesday, Feb. 7 from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m., a staff of volunteer attorneys will be answering legal questions from the general public at 1-374-3160. This is no longer a toll-free number. All calls will be charged to the telephone from which the call is made.

This service is sponsored by the Harrison County Young Lawyers, the South Mississippi Planning and Development District's Area Agency on Aging and South Mississippi Legal Services Corporation.

The "First Wednesday Legal Line" offers the public an opportunity to call for legal information and referral services for a specific problem.

This service is especially intended for elderly, handicapped and low-income individuals who may not have access to an attorney or who may not know whether the problem requires the assistance of one. However, everyone with a question about the law is encouraged to call.

Fog creates romantic ideas

There is something different about fog—something other weather conditions can not do to a person.

Other weather conditions may affect a person physically, and, in a sense, affect them emotionally, but only fog can change someone's perspective completely.

There's just this isolated feeling one gets when he peers out his back door and can't see his backyard.

And for most of the past week, I couldn't see my backyard from my car in front of me, to the back of the mailbox in front of my house or the stop sign in the corner.

Two things I've had plenty of this week are laundry and fog. I never run out of laundry anyway, and Mother Nature didn't run out of fog until well into mid-morning this week and brought it back before dark.

In the daytime, fog mutes the colors of everything more than six feet away into the pastels I once saw in an Impressionistic painting.

In the dark, there's this sense of isolation until someone or something comes out of the fog like out of nowhere to greet you.

There's a soft rock and roll song called "Year of the Cat" and I think about it when it's foggy outside. It begins by describing "a morning from a Bogart movie" and is about a man's encounter with a mysterious lady who comes out of the fog. Sounds like a plot Humphrey Bogart would have starred in, doesn't it?

I find it a very romantic song, and fog in general gives me some rather romantic ideas anyway—the kind that haven't really been filmed much since Hollywood abandoned black-and-white film for color.

Maybe Bogart movies are the reason I like fog. It's kind of exciting to me as long as I'm not trying to drive in it, and there are times I'd like to go get my trench coat and play at being Ingrid Bergman.

I'd like to have a video camera on foggy days and shoot a Bogart-style movie of my own.

I can find plenty of Peter Lorre types out there to play my criminal, and I know where to find a few rugged leading men to audition for my movie. And, down here on the coast, beautiful women aren't hard to come by, either.

There are other movies I'm reminded of when I see fog. When I call in my dogs before I go to work, I think of one of those Old Sherlock Holmes serials starring Basil Rathbone and Nigel Bruce.

I've got the dog. Now all I need is some phosphorescent paint to put on her teeth and I can reshoot "The Hound of the Baskervilles" or, if I want to make some money instead of going the nostalgia route, I can get some more dogs and make a couple of cheap horror movies called "Canine Corps from Hell" and "Canine Corps from Hell II."

This whole deal might be a fun project, but to make sure the fog will last, I'll have to find actors who will work at night. After all, the best fog is between 5 p.m. and 10 a.m., not the other way around.

I wonder if Waveland will pass as Casablanca? If it won't, I'll have to come up with some reason Humphrey Bogart would come to Bay St. Louis—maybe I'll call it "The Maltese Pelican."

TIMBERLINE

By Mark Jamieson
County Forester

Protect your property from wildfire damage

This month we are in the beginning of the worst season for wildfires. So in this article we give you some tips on how to protect your home.

Here in Hancock County we haven't lost any homes because of wildfires, but last month a shed burned down. This was due to all the tall grass and brush that was growing behind the shed.

We stopped the fire from getting to the house, but the fire was already around the shed when our unit arrived.

This type of occurrence can be prevented. If the homeowner had kept the grass and brush cleared around the shed, the fire wouldn't have gotten to it as quickly, and we may have had time to save it.

Some good tips are:

* Clean an area around your home and outbuildings of all tall grass, small brush, accumulations of needles, leaves and branches.

* Clean the pine needles off roofs.

* Have sufficient water hose to reach completely around your home and outbuildings from the outside faucet.

* Keep our phone number, 255-7152 by the phone and report all wildfires. The sooner we can respond to a wildfire the less danger to the public it will be.

If you are going to burn the debris that accumulates every fall, be sure to be careful. Our second biggest cause of wildfires are debris burns that get away from people.

Clear an area of all burnable material around the pile you will be burning. Pick a safe time to burn, in late afternoon after the wind has died down and the humidity is rising is best.

And remember what Smokey the Bear says, "Don't leave that fire unattended." Even when it's just smoldering, a gust of wind can cause that fire to get out.

Hancock Conservation District to give away trees Feb. 12-13

Winter is here and so is the time to plant trees. Have you ever thought about what a tree can do for you?

A college professor did some calculations and came up with the following interesting information about trees. He calculated that a tree that lives to be 50 years old produces $200,000 worth of products in its lifetime:

$31,250 worth of oxygen;
$62,500 worth of air pollution control (including noise pollution);

$31,250 in soil erosion control;

$37,500 in recycling water and controlling humidity;

$31,200 worth of shelter for birds and animals;

and $2,500 worth of protein.

Although it's not likely that we'll ever be able to sell a 50-year-old tree for $200,000, it is fair to say that trees are extremely valuable to us inhabitants of the planet Earth—even before they are harvested for valuable and necessary wood products.

The Hancock County Soil and Water Conservation District will be giving away trees on Feb. 12 and 13. So this Arbor Day, join the district in planting a tree!

For more information, call Linda McMahon, district conservationist, at 255-3225.

THIS LAND IS YOUR LAND

By Joe Pilet
Friendship Oak DAR
Conservancy Chairman

Plan for the future, enhance the environment— plant a tree!

Are we about to run out of forest land? Or did we push the panic button too soon?

The American Forest Council with headquarters in Washington, D.C. manages the future of American Forests and announces they are keeping up with the ever growing demand for wood and paper products.

They report that we have nearly 730 million acres of lush forest land. To quote from their report:

"Thanks, in part, to private landowners and American forest products companies, who plant over 6,000,000 trees a day, reseed entire forests and use other forest management techniques to promote natural regrowth, we are determined to keep up with the growing demand for wood and paper products."

This optimistic account should not deter us from continuing our objectives of planting trees in Hancock County. Mayors of our twin cities, Bay St. Louis and Waveland, through proclamation have urged all of our citizens to get involved in replacing trees locally. Many trees were lost during last season's drought, also storms and other unfavorable climatic conditions killed many trees.

Remember the little song that went, "If everyone would light just one little candle, what a bright world this would be." We might well paraphrase by saying, "If everyone would plant just one little tree what a beautiful area this would be."

There is something soul-satisfying about planting a tree or shrub. It is the knowledge that by this planting you are creating something beautiful for a future generation and at the same time making your present environment a pleasant place in which to live.

Where should the trees be planted? In your very own yard if you like, or perhaps a spot in the church grounds, school grounds or city-owned land.

Why not take a slow and leisurely drive and discover vacant spots where trees once stood? Your efforts in planting can make the difference!

February proclaimed Tree Planting Month

A resolution made by the Friendship Oak Chapter National Society Daughters of the American Revolution became a proclamation on Friday when Mayors of both Bay St. Louis and Waveland designated the entire month of February as tree planting time in Hancock County.

For the past century Arbor Day has been observed in Mississippi. Usually the celebration centers around school or civic group participation in planting a tree in recognition of the value of trees to our ecology. Most of our United States celebrate Arbor Day. In some states it is a legal holiday.

Arbor Day began in Nebraska when J. Sterling Morton, a newspaper publisher realized that trees serve to enrich the soil and to conserve moisture. April 10, 1872 became the first Arbor Day.

Mississippi in 1890 was the 25th state to enlist in the national tree planting endeavor. The overall objective: to clean our nation's air, expand her water sheds, anchor her top soil and shade her towns and cities.

Arbor Day in this area was set for Feb. 9, but the mayors felt that the planting time should be extended for the convenience of the residents.

It is their hope that every property owner some time during the month would plant a tree or shrub of their own selection.

Now is the proper time for three planting, and being the first state to extend the Arbor Celebration adds incentive. Coordinating the project are Joe Pilet, who is Friendship Oak's conservation chairman, with committee leaders, including Kathrine Fernandez, Martha Van Peski and Shirley Davenport, all of Bay St. Louis.

These committee women will welcome volunteer assistance from those who wish to donate plants or who are available for planting. News releases are planned on a weekly basis for the month of February.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

December and January have come and gone and we are now in February, and yet, the Christmas decorations remain on the tree at the Hancock County Courthouse.

The newly planted cedar looks very nice and I hope this one will make it so it can be used again next year.

It will be hard, though, for the Christmas decorations to survive the elements on the tree until the next season.

Normal procedure is to remove the lights and ornaments until the next year.

I like the traffic changes made by the Middle School on Carroll Avenue, but they may not be to the liking of some motorists.

It is nice to drive on Carroll alongside the school without having to contend with vehicles parked on both sides of the street.

Vehicles parked on both sides of the street always annoyed me because I feared a youngster would dart out from one of them.

It seems most folks are happy with the traffic route, as it appears to make it easier for parents to drop students off and pick them up.

To me, it seems that just about every time I drive at night I will meet a motorist or two with only one headlight working.

The recent foggy conditions add to the hazard of vehicles traveling with only one headlight.

I have a hard enough time driving with two headlights, especially when it is foggy; it seems a motorist could replace a headlamp which is broken.

Recently I had a headlamp knocked out by a piece of gravel. As soon as I realized it was out, I had it replaced.

Motorists with one headlamp operating can be cited for improper equipment.

Vandals have struck again in Bay St. Louis, and it seems the creeps are getting lower and lower.

The latest vandalism is the destruction of the control panels on a sewer lift station in Bay St. Louis.

Sewer lift stations contain a motor which is controlled by electrical panels and should not be tampered with.

Tampering with a control panel could possibly cost the city some $10,000 to $12,000 if a motor is burned out, according to Mayor Edward Favre.

Vandalism does nothing but cost taxpayers money.

Mark Mason, owner of Mark Mason Builders, Inc., has seen a need for the removal of litter at the newly renovated boat launch at the mouth of the Jourdan River.

Mason feels that if enough of citizens would adopt a section of the beach, it would really help in controlling litter.

During a recent collection, it wasn't long before Mason, two students and Hancock County trustees collected a dozen or so bags of all types of litter.

We need more concerned citizens like Mason, who had persons wanting more information can call him at 467-2650.

The hazardous waste noose grows tighter

The hazardous waste noose has been drawn even tighter around Mississippi's neck.

Last year the state of Alabama, which had been a major source of treatment and disposal of Mississippi's hazardous waste materials, announced that most waste materials from Mississippi would no longer be welcome across the border.

Despite the Alabama declaration, some hoped that the courts would overrule the decision and open the gates.

Within recent days a federal court ruling has come down, and the news is not good for Mississippi. Alabama, said the court, has the right to reject hazardous waste materials from other states in order to protect its own citizens.

So, the Alabama door is closed; the South Carolina door is closed; that state has also announced that it will not accept hazardous waste from other states. And, the Louisiana door is expected to close soon.

So, the hazardous waste noose draws tighter. Mississippi has no acceptable hazardous waste treatment or disposal facilities, and the other states are closing us out.

At this point the state Legislature appears on its way to finding a solution to this problem. Still to be overcome, however, is the issue of local-option approval of hazardous waste sites. The Legislature must be willing to respond to the hazardous waste crisis as a state problem, not as a local issue.

Legislators should be encouraged to stay on course, to solve this problem. Otherwise the noose will simply strangle us economically.

LETTERS POLICY

The Sea Coast Echo welcomes comments from its readers on subjects of general interest. Letters must be signed and include address or phone number so that the sender can be contacted by the newspaper if necessary. Letters should be brief, preferably typewritten and double spaced, and conform to standards of good taste.

Letters of thanks, expressions of appreciation and political endorsements are considered inappropriate for the Letters to the Editor columns.

Mississippi has an opportunity to preserve rich environment

There is perhaps no place in this nation that presents a greater opportunity to preserve a rich and relatively unpolluted environment than in Mississippi. While many states wallow in waste and watch precious resources fade away forever, we in Mississippi have taken bold steps to protect one of God's great gifts.

Whether it's preserving our irreplaceable wetlands or standing tall against those who would use Mississippi as a dumping ground, we are entering this decade with a new commitment to the environment.

Industries and industrial groups must work together, instead of against each other in this great effort.

Our course for progress will end in disaster if we recklessly lose our natural resources. But if we wisely employ those resources, we will fix our sights on an abundant, prosperous, brighter future.

One big issue facing us in the future is how Mississippi can safely and responsibly dispose of solid waste. The Legislative Environmental Protection Council has been given the key role in meeting this challenge, and my office will assist in any appropriate way. We need to move on this issue.

For example, at present, we have no regulations which control solid waste produced by other states from entering Mississippi.

We need regulations that tell other states, "Mississippi is not your dumping ground."

One of Mississippi's greatest strength is its natural resources. We are at a point in history where protection of our environment is of the utmost importance. However, all of the burden of this protection cannot rest on the backs of government. Private citizens also play an important role.

Through cooperation, we will be able to make the 1990's the decade of the environment.

Over the next year, Mississippi will confront a full plate of environmental issues. We will have to come to terms with hazardous waste.

We have made progress, but we must continue to develop means to adequately handle our hazardous waste in an environmentally sound manner.

We also need to meet the challenges of disposing of our solid waste. We must develop a statewide plan that will ensure that we can meet Environmental Protection Agency mandates that face us over the next three years.

We must continue to progress that we began in 1989 on the wetlands front. Our wetlands resources are by far the most endangered. Conservation easements must be utilized to the greatest extent possible, demonstrating to private landowners the value of protecting this important resource.

Mississippi has a long, rich and proud heritage of beautiful lands and wonderful natural treasures, of hunting and fishing and making the outdoors a big part of our lives.

We have to leave a legacy for our children, and by protecting what we have for those who follow will be one of the greatest presents we can offer the future.

Q. Which is older, the Mississippi Army National Guard or the state of Mississippi?

A. The Guard. Territorial Governor Winthrop Sargent issued an order on September 8, 1798 calling for the militia to be organized. Mississippi gained statehood in 1817, 19 years later, becoming the 20th state in the union.

REPORT FROM THE SENATE

by Sen. Vic Franckiewicz Jr.

Deadline nears for bill introductions

Now that we have concluded the first month of the 1990 Legislative Session, the Senate is prepared to debate several hundred bills favorably acted on in committee. Nearly 1,000 bills have died in committee.

The bills which have been reported favorably must be taken up by the Senate by midnight on Feb. 8, or they will be dead for the session.

The Senate traditionally works through its entire calendar so that bills do not die simply because time runs out. This means that we will probably be working some very late hours to make sure the reported bills get proper attention before the full Senate.

Several bills deal with the seafood industry. One would authorize a redfish management plan, while another requires the owner of a vessel licensed under the state seafood law to designate a captain and that captain shall be responsible for seafood violations on that vessel.

Another bill prohibits commercial harvesting of crabs, oysters, shrimp, bait shrimp or saltwater fish in the Pascagoula River System north of the CSX Railroad in Jackson County or in the back bay of Biloxi north and west of the CSX Railroad.

While many of these prohibitions are needed to protect our resources, the bill as it stands now does not address the serious problems our live bait dealers are having. This issue still needs a lot of work.

Also on the table is a bill to increase penalties for seafood violations. This includes requiring a mandatory jail term of 10 days for anyone operating a vessel which has had its license suspended.

It also puts stiff penalties on anyone convicted of selling or buying seafood taken with a recreational license or with gear restricted for recreational and personal use and for live bait dealers or boat operators for selling shrimp contrary to regulations.

Major reform is proposed for the Public Service Commission which regulates public utilities. The Senate committee is recommending that the three-member elected commission be replaced with a five-member commission to be appointed by the governor with one member named from each congressional district.

In the event that an appointed commission is not adopted, another bill prohibits candidates for the commission from accepting campaign contributions from public utilities.

Also, there is a bill to prohibit

"ex parte" communications regarding pending contested cases. This, in essence, prohibits any form of communication about the case when all parties in the case have not been given notice of and opportunity for participation.

The Elections Committee approved a number of election reforms which strengthen the election process and authorize absentee voting if you are going to be out of your county on election day for any reason. This will cover people on vacation who cannot vote absentee under the old law.

The committee also recommends mail-in voter registration, a bill which I co-sponsored. This is a good bill with plenty of safeguards against fraud. It works in 24 other states where it has been proven to be more convenient for the elderly, the handicapped people without transportation and people who work out of town.

All of the circuit clerks on the Coast have spoken against the bill, but I don't think that their objections are valid. Mail-in registration would serve the public better; it might be more work for the circuit clerks, but that is not a good reason to turn it down.

Seventeen items on the calendar deal with updating Mississippi's century-old constitution. Most of these items are considered routine and are designed to "clean up" the constitution by getting rid of unnecessary and outdated provisions.

Three of the items are significant changes. One would eliminate the need to hold a general election when a candidate is unopposed.

Another would make judges appointed rather than elected. A third provision would change when statewide elections are held and move them to even-numbered years.

Unfortunately, my bill to make bingo constitutional has died in committee, and nothing came out of committee to let you, the voters, initiate changes to your own constitution.

That power is still reserved by the Legislature, which I think is wrong. The debate over the lottery proved that people want the right to vote on their constitution. I hope the Legislature will eventually change its position on this one.

I would be glad to hear your views on any issue. You may call me at 359-3770 or write to me at the Mississippi State Senate, P.O. Box 1018, Jackson, MS 39215-1018. On weekends, please call me at 467-2399.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Senator
Thad Cochran

Cochran urges Senate not to 'undermine' Bush's foreign policy

Senator Thad Cochran warned the Senate that a vote to override the President's veto of Chinese student visa legislation would "undermine" Bush's conduct of the nation's foreign policy.

"The issue is whether Congress will express confidence in the President of the United States to conduct the foreign policy of our nation," he said in a floor speech urging support for the President.

"A vote to override will undermine our own President in the conduct of our nation's foreign policy," Cochran stated.

He noted that President Bush has already acted administratively to accomplish the goal of the congressional bill, and also pointed out developments in "Chinese-American relations the past several months.

The senator cited discussions on missile sales to the Middle East, the lifting of martial law, the Cambodian situation, student and cultural exchange programs, and agricultural interests as examples that U.S. diplomacy with China is having positive results.

"These are signs that President Bush's calm, thoughtful diplomacy is having some effect," Cochran commented.

The senator also pointed out that last year Congress and the President expressed "our indignation and contempt for the heinous acts of the China regime" in suppressing dissent against the Beijing government.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

The "produce patch" is far from empty these days, with our area supermarkets offering specials on fruits and vegetables to tempt the winter palate! I'm busy cutting up fruit to have on hand in the refrigerator for meals and for snacking as well.

I usually keep fruit mixtures on hand in a covered container in the fridge, for enjoying plain, or with sour cream or yogurt atop; or tumbling over a bowl of ice cream or a slice of cake. And, a tasty addition to the tea table or cocktail tray is an assortment of cut-up fresh fruit, with a bowl of sour cream and another of brown sugar for "dipping."

So, take advantage of the super special on bananas at Delchamps, and the cantaloupe at National, along with seedless white grapes from Winn-Dixie and red delicious apples from Jitney Jungle, and start slicing and cutting. You may want to toss in some of the canned peaches and pears or mixed fruit from Winn-Dixie as well.

Or, you may want to scoop up some of the raisins on special at Jitney Jungle, and make an old-fashioned Waldorf (apple and celery and raising and nut) salad bound together with mayonnaise—and don't forget to sprinkle lemon juice over the cut apples to keep them from turning brown.

You might also want to bake some bananas or apples to go along with one of the pork specials—such as quarter-loins sliced into chops, at Winn-Dixie or Jitney Jungle, or the Boston Butt roasts or pork steaks at Delchamps. National offers whole picnics, fresh or smoked, along with pork spare ribs—so make your choice and start cooking!

Mention pork to many Southerners, and barbecue come to mind, such as:

KITCHEN STYLE BARBECUED PORK

1 Boston Butt (5 to 6 lbs.)
1 tsp. chili sauce
1 tsp. celery seeds
1 cup catsup
1/4 cup Worcestershire sauce
1/4 cup vinegar
1 tsp. brown sugar
1 cup water

Salt
Cook pork in lightly salted water over low heat for 2 to 2 1/2 hours; drain, reserving one cup broth. Cut pork into thin slices, and place in large shallow baking pan.

Combine one teaspoon salt, reserved broth and remaining ingredients. Mix well and pour over pork slices. Bake at 325 degrees for 30 to 45 minutes. (10 to 12 servings)—from Southern Living magazine.

Or, this quick and good and easy:

SUE'S SKILLET SPECIAL
Braise several lean pork chops in a heavy skillet, seasoning to taste with pepper and salt. Top each with a slice of onion and of bell (green) pepper, then with a lemon slice.

Pour over all a medium can of V-8 or tomato juice and a generous half cup of dry white wine. Cover and simmer for 45 minutes, or until the chops are tender to the touch of a fork. (Four servings)—from Katy's Cookbook—Cooking Up a Storm.

***
In the vegetable line, National offers tender baby carrots at a special price, and fresh broccoli and cauliflower are winners at Winn-Dixie. And let's not overlook that good staple of our diets—the potato. All purpose russets are a bargain at Jitney Jungle, and a special saving in eight-pound bags. There are red potatoes on special there also. Here's a tasty way to cook those baby carrots:

GLAZED BABY CARROTS

2 bunches baby carrots
6 Tbsp. butter
6 Tbsp. sugar
1/2 tsp. cinnamon or ginger
Wash carrots, scrape if necessary, leaving whole. Steam briefly in a little boiling salted water till tender to a fork; time depends upon size, of course. Drain well.

Combine butter and sugar with cinnamon or ginger in a large skillet, and cook, stirring constantly, until well blended. Add the carrots and cook over low heat, shaking the pan frequently to glaze carrots on all sides till shiny and well glazed. (Six servings)—from The American Heritage Cookbook.

And, for a hearty side dish, let's combine some of those potatoes with some of the yellow onions on special at Delchamps and Winn-Dixie, along with cheese sticks from Winn-Dixie and cook up:

POTATOES AND ONIONS
AU GRATIN
2 Tbsp. butter or margarine
2 Tbsp. flour
1 cup milk
1 tsp. salt, dash of pepper, same of paprika
1 1/2 cups diced or sliced
cooked potatoes
Several medium onions,
sliced or diced
3/4 cup grated Cheddar
cheese

Melt the butter or margarine in a pan, and blend in the flour. Gradually add the milk, stirring constantly as you cook, to make a cream or white sauce. Add the salt, pepper and paprika.

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Arrange alternate layers of potatoes, onions, sauce and cheese in greased baking dish (2 qt. size) and bake for 20 to 25 minutes. (Six to eight servings.)

***
When I cook cauliflower or broccoli, I often steam the vegetable briefly with sliced lemon and just a bit of butter or margarine, season with pepper and enjoy. For another meal, I make a cream sauce as in the above recipe, and add grated cheese to make a cheese sauce, which I spoon over the cauliflower or broccoli, and bake for a short time. Sometimes I add bits of ham to the dish.

Whole fryers are on special at Jitney Jungle (limit three please) so I'm planning to roast a couple to have on hand in the fridge and freezer, the basis for quite a few meals—I might even polish up the dining table and the silverware and ask a few friends over!

SENIOR CITIZENS HAPPENINGS

By Eve McDonald

WANT TO DANCE?

We have had a request for a dancing class (ballroom). If you are interested, come to a meeting at the Center Thursday, Feb. 8 at 10 a.m. in the cafeteria. We will discuss round dancing, line dancing, cha cha, etc.

The class will be designed by those interested. You don't have to be a couple—singles are fine as well as couples. Call Rosine Jushaway at 467-9292 for further information.

WANT TO DISCUSS?

We have some information about a reading and discussion program. Mrs. Hilary Jones will be here Monday to meet with anyone who may be interested in this type of program.

Sounds like fun—read aloud some interesting short story, then discuss it. It sounds like Great Books groups, but is less formal. Come to the office and give us your suggestion Monday, Feb. 5 at 9:30 a.m.

PARTIES

Arlene Johnson has planned several February parties. The first will be a Valentine Party Friday, Feb. 9 from noon to 1:30 p.m. There will be refreshments, door prizes and bingo.

The second party will be a Mardi Gras party and that will be Feb. 23 from noon to 1:30. Please come in costume. If you need help planning a costume, see Arlene beforehand and she will help you.

We will be parading and dancing in the dining room. Prizes! Refreshments! Fun! If you have extra beads or trinkets, we will be happy to have them for our folks. Donations will be accepted at the Center and distributed to those who are in costume so they can pass them out.

Sloppy Joes

Score a touchdown with football lovers and serve these delicious Sloppy Joes! Even the heartiest appetites will be satisfied with this low-fat, low-sodium and low-calorie version of one of America's favorites.

1 8-ounce can no-salt-added tomato sauce	1/4 tsp. freshly grated orange peel
1/2 cup ketchup	Pinch ground cloves
1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce	Hot pepper sauce to taste
1 tsp. prepared yellow mustard	1 lb. very lean ground sirloin
1/2 tsp. dry mustard	1/2 small onion, finely chopped
1 tsp. molasses	6 whole-wheat hamburger buns, toasted if desired
1 clove garlic, finely minced

In a saucepan over low heat, combine first ten ingredients. Mix well and simmer while preparing meat.

Next, heat a heavy, non-stick skillet at least 10 inches in diameter, over medium-high heat. Add ground beef and sauté, stirring occasionally, 4 to 5 minutes, or until meat is no longer pink. Pour contents of pan into a strainer or colander lined with paper towels. Allow fat to drain out.

Add onion to pan and sauté, stirring frequently, about 5 minutes; or until translucent. Return meat to pan and add sauce. Heat 3 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add additional hot pepper sauce, if desired. Spoon 1/2 cup mixture over each bun. Serve immediately. The sauce and meat mixture freezes well.

Reflections

On Life

By Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

Let Jesus say "Guilty"

At the judgment seat of God, the Heavenly Court will say to you, "You have been charged with soliciting funds and resources for the poor and needy."

Make sure, through your daily conduct, that Jesus will be in position to say, "Guilty as charged!"

The Heavenly Court will look at its prosecution further: "You are charged with befriending people, drunks, hook-smoking people and gamblers!"

Through your unflinching love of those derelicts and sinners, allow Jesus to say, "Guilty as charged!"

However, the Court will say, "You are charged with being the cause of those who are misrepresented, of those who are oppressed, of the helpless, of the totally indigent!"

See to it that you give Jesus no other choice but to recall your actions and say, "Guilty as charged!"

"You are also charged with constantly attempting to rejoice with those who rejoice, to weep with the sad and depressed people who weep, and to mourn with those who are heavy and go about mourning!" the Court will insist.

You had better ground yourself well in Paul's admonition in Romans 12:15, where he tells us to do those very things. Follow the advice of Paul, so that Jesus will say, "Guilty as charged!"

There is another charge here concerning your reading and attempting to follow the letter of James," the Court will observe. "Just as we read in chapter 1, verse 27 of that letter, you are charged with trying to pursue pure and undefiled religion by caring for orphans and widows in their affliction!"

Keep that charge in mind for the rest of your life, and treat orphans and widows with that great care and concern. Leave Jesus no option but to say to you, "Guilty as charged!"

On the final, fateful day, the Heavenly Court will continue its relentless inquisition: "You are charged with spurning the lure of riches, the ties of earthly possessions, and the headiness of abundant properties and luxuries! You are further charged with attempting to value God and people above all these things!"

Just make doubly sure that your heart will be with God and people because you have made them your treasure. Store up for yourself those true treasures, in order that Jesus will be convinced and moved to say, "Guilty as charged!"

Hoping for a conviction, the Heavenly Court will move rapidly with its charges: "You are charged with studying the Sermon on the Mount (Mt. 5-7) and striving to implement its teachings, even to the point of loving your enemies, of praying for those who persecute you, and of doing good to those who hate you!"

Don't give Jesus an opportunity to do anything else but to observe all this in you and declare, "Guilty as charged!"

If the verdict on you has been "Guilty," thus far, consider yourself blessed indeed. But the Heavenly Court has something more to say concerning your use of the gift of speech:

"You are charged with that most difficult of all human maneuvers: controlling your tongue! You are charged with trying

Grand Jury

The Tax Collector's office also is instrumental in assisting with the Emergency 911 system because of its records of the properties and the locations in the county. The entire county will be on the E911 system eventually. He further informed that a numbering system was nearing completion, meaning that every work place or residence will be given a number that can be identified by the E911 operator. Even if the caller is unable to speak, fire, medical and law enforcement would know the location and would be able to respond.

His office has also implemented a computer system which can print out all of the tax bills overnight, and that the system was backed up daily and weekly and those records stored so no information was lost.

Mr. Murtagh also invited anyone, Grand Jury or other citizens of the county, to visit his office and he would give them a tour.

PORT AND HARBOR

Port Director Harold "Buz" Olsen, addressed the Grand Jury and reviewed the operations of the port, which he described as well maintained and self-sufficient. The commission manages the land under its authority, and is currently engaged in negotiations to obtain a new industry that would be economically beneficial for the citizens of Hancock County.

We would suggest that the feasibility of disposing of the Bayou Caddy property, including a private sale, be studied.

CHANCERY CLERK

The Grand Jury heard a report from E. Michael Necaise, Hancock County Chancery Clerk. He reported that he did not think that the county would experience a tax increase this year.

He also stated that the monies targeted for the Department of Human Services all-purpose building has been secured and that bids for construction would be let in the next few weeks.

He also stated that the building would be built on county-owned land adjacent to the Hancock County Civic Center building. He stated that the bond money has been used to resurface and reseal several selected roads throughout the county.

Finally, Mr. Necaise stated that several large industries are considering locating in Hancock County. These industries could create several hundred jobs and create a greater tax base.

MISSISSIPPI FORESTRY COMMISSION

Mark Jamieson reported that one of the Forestry Commission jobs is to control forest fires. Last year 225 fires with 2,000 acres burned. He also stated 90 percent of these fires were arson related. Average acres burned were 10 acres. He also noted that his office is available for advice to private land and homeowners and that they manage forestry on all 16th Section lands.

Mr. Jamieson stated that in 1989, $134,000 were received from timber sales. All but 15 percent went to the county school system.

Since arson causes most forestry fires and is hard to prove, this Grand Jury recommends that the Commission investigate, offering rewards for information leading to the arrest of individuals committing arson. This may assist in curbing such crimes.

SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT AND JAIL

Sheriff Ronnie Peterson addressed the Grand Jury. The main topics discussed were jail facilities, wages, workmen's compensation and civil service. Also discussed was the processing and detaining of juveniles.

A tour of the jail facilities revealed a well maintained facility in that it was clean and adequate to meet the normal processing and holding of adult male and female prisoners.

Observation during the jail tour revealed the juveniles were detained within sight and hearing of adult prisoners. We recommend that the Sheriff's Department and Juvenile Department of Hancock County work together to resolve any problems pertaining to the holding and detaining of these juveniles in Hancock County in close proximity to adult offenders.

We also recommend that workmen's compensation and civil service be instituted for the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

We recommend that the appropriate County and Youth Court personnel study and determine the feasibility of maintaining separate facilities for the care and well-being of our youthful offenders. Also we recommend that our county and municipal officials provide funding for the hiring of a juvenile officer to deal strictly with juvenile offenders and victims.

We were impressed with the concept of establishing a "drug free zone" around our schools for the protection of our children. We would be pleased to see our law enforcement and prosecuting agencies explore the use of the drug-free zoning as established in other states and would recommend implementation of such program for Hancock County.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

Mr. Ronnie Cuevas, president of the Board of Supervisors, reported on how the tax dollars are divided and informed us on the duties of the supervisors themselves.

The Grand Jury would request that the board investigate and determine:

- a) the feasibility of constructing a new building for the county and judicial system of Hancock County
- b) the implementation of civil service status for county employees, and
- c) the feasibility of submitting to the voters by referendum the question of consolidating governmental service on a countywide basis.

We would also recommend that provisions for separate juvenile facilities be made, that the jail be air-conditioned and that the supervisors and municipal governments provide appropriate funding for the employment of a juvenile officer to deal with juvenile offenders and victims.

We ask the court to declare us in recess at this time, subject to recall at a later date, if necessary.

This the 31st day of January, 1990.

Nereids parade to roll February 18

The Krewe of Nereids will present their 24th annual parade Sunday, Feb. 18 beginning at 2 p.m.

The theme for this year's event is "Nereids Visits Oz". Parade chairman Jeannette Handshoe promises the floats will be the best ever.

"Children will especially enjoy the costumes," she said, noting live props will be prominently featured on the floats to ensure visibility.

Approximately parade 100 entries have been received, including many old favorites.

Marching bands will include Bay Senior High School, St. Stanislaus, Hancock North Central, Pearl River Community College and Mercy Cross, who recently won first place in New Orleans parade band competition.

The award-winning Mississippi All-Stars baton twirling marchers will participate, in addition to marching groups from St. Clare and Bay Catholic Elementary Schools and the popular "Hat People".

Other entries include a float featuring news anchors from WLOX-TV and the WZKX Power 108 radio van.

The parade will begin at Choctaw Plaza Shopping Center, corner US-90 and 603 and disband at Our Shopping Center, Waveland.

Entries are still being accepted. For more information, write Krewe of Nereids Parade Office, P. O. Box 2501, Bay St. Louis, MS 39521, or call 467-7635.

UNO lecture series to commemorate centennial of Eisenhower's birth

The Eisenhower Center for Leadership Studies at the University of New Orleans is sponsoring an Eisenhower Lecture Series in honor of the 100th anniversary of Dwight D. Eisenhower's birth. All lectures, which are free and open to the public, will begin at 2 p.m. in Room 407 of the UNO Earl K. Long Library.

A Debate on Eisenhower's Leadership: Pros and Cons is the topic of the program, Monday, Feb. 12.

Discussants are Fred Greenstein, director, Program in Leadership Studies, Woodrow Wilson School, and professor of politics, Princeton University, and H. W. Brands, assistant professor of history, Texas A&M.

Stephen E. Ambrose, director of the center and Boyd Professor of history, will moderate the series and introduce the distinguished speakers.

Other programs will be: March 19: 'Eisenhower and American Society in the 1950's,' William L. O'Neil, professor of history, Rutgers University.

April 2: 'Eisenhower and NATO,' Robert S. Jordan, UNO Research Professor of International Institutions.

April 30: 'Eisenhower and Khrushchev,' Michael R. Beschloss, historian and author, Washington, D.C.

May 2: 'Eisenhower and the British, M. R. D. Foot, historian and author, Oxford University.

A talk on 'A Russian View of Eisenhower' by Robert Ivanov, professor, Institute of General History, USSR Academy of Sciences, opened the series in January.

The series, which is co-sponsored by the Louisiana Endowment for the Humanities, will continue in the 1990 fall semester.

What to do if chest pain grabs your attention.

Don't wait to see what's going to happen next. By then it may be too late. Get help immediately.

Chest pain and pressure are heart attack symptoms. There are others. The pain may radiate down your arm, shoulders or neck. You may become dizzy, break out in a cold sweat, feel faint or sick to your stomach.

Sometimes only a few symptoms occur. Sometimes more. Sometimes the symptoms can even be due to another problem.

Only one thing is certain. The sooner heart problems are treated, the better your chance of recovering to live a full and productive life.

That's why we're here. The Heart Emergency Service at NorthShore Regional Medical Center is the first of its kind in this area. Located in our Emergency Department, we save lives by detecting heart problems rapidly and providing necessary treatment.

If you experience any symptoms of a heart attack, get immediate medical attention. Anytime, day or night, you can call our emergency 24-Hour Heartline™ at 1-800-HEART-13. An emergency care professional is available around the clock to answer questions, give advice or even dispatch an ambulance if necessary.

24-Hr. Heartline
1-800-HEART-13

The Heart Center at NorthShore Regional Medical Center offers a complete range of cardiac care services. That's important to you during those first critical hours following a heart attack. And although you'll probably never need them, it's good to know our heart team is available 24 hours a day.

We employ powerful clot-dissolving drugs that can save lives by stopping and, in some instances, actually reversing the effects of heart attacks. But the sooner these drugs are administered the better the chance of a complete recovery.

Our advanced diagnostic capabilities, including a state-of-the-art cardiac catheterization laboratory, help us assess and treat heart problems more quickly than ever.

We also offer educational programs to help people prevent heart attacks, and rehabilitation services that help heart patients recover faster and more fully.

Learn more about The Heart Center at NorthShore Regional Medical Center by calling (504) 641-MDMD and we'll send you a free brochure that describes our cardiac care services in greater detail.

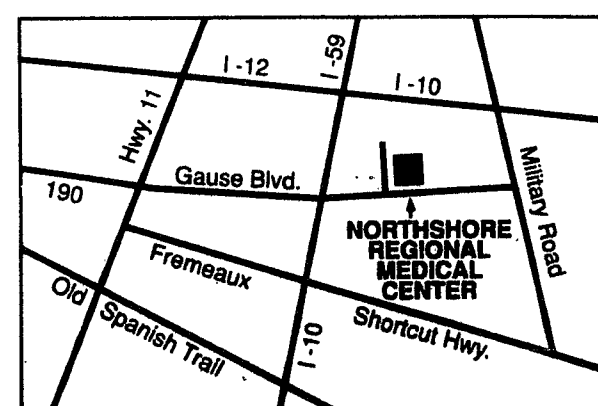

Remember, if your heart tries to tell you something, pay attention. Grab the phone. Call 1-800-HEART-13. Or go to the nearest hospital emergency department. If you're close to NorthShore Regional Medical Center, use the Heart Emergency Service in our Emergency Department located just east of Interstate 10 on 190—Exit 266—Gause Boulevard. Right away. Before the problem gets out of hand.

Wild babies may not be orphans

BY DENA BISNETTE
Wildlife Rehabilitation and Nature Preservation Society (WRANPS) is getting ready for Spring, when people start bringing baby birds and animals to the WRANPS center in Pass Christian.

Robin Berry, director of the facility, said WRANPS is a public, nonprofit organization that was originally designed to help injured and orphaned animals and birds and to prepare them for release into the wild. The University of Southern Mississippi Arboretum provides a place for the center and everything else is obtained through donations.

WRANPS has added to its original purposes and now provides public education programs and is becoming involved in research projects, including been orphaned, but the mother has actually left for a little while to find food."

WRANPS offers instructions for anyone who has found one of these wild babies. First, watch the animal for a day or so to make sure a mother does not come to get it. If you are in doubt about the animal's status or if it appears to be injured or ill, call WRANPS at 452-WILD.

Berry explained that the organization includes several volunteers in various locations along the coast who have been trained to identify the needs of abandoned or injured animals and prepare them for transportation to the center.

They can either provide a caller with appropriate instructions for handling a particular bird or animal or come to meet the caller and provide him with

If a person finds an animal and it is in need of assistance, he should be careful when he approaches it because there is the possibility that the animal will be hostile and may carry disease; rabies is a matter of particular concern.

"One thing we try to get across to people in our public education programs is that they should not try to keep wild animals as pets. It's not good for them and it's not good for you, and, it's illegal," added Berry.

She explained that wildlife, no matter how young the particular creature may be when it is exposed to humans, can be dangerous later. Among the more dangerous are the birds of prey, known as raptors, and mammals that may bite, including raccoons.

WRANPS, which has about volunteers are asked to call first.

WRANPS also needs assistance from people who do not want to be directly involved in animal care, because there is construction work to be done.

"We're trying to finish our clinic, where we will be able to provide better care for injured animals," said Berry, who added that several veterinarians have volunteered their services to help with the more difficult problems.

In addition, more habitat enclosures are needed.

"We could use donations of new construction materials, particularly wood and wire, but please check with us before bringing anything over because we have limited storage space," she commented.

Berry added that there is still time to make sure wild babies, such as birds, squirrels or possums, are not born in your attics or under your house.

She advises use of wire screens on chimneys, repair of rotting boards in eaves of houses and blocking of all entrances to crawlways under raised houses.

"Some animals, particularly birds and squirrels or even raccoons, urbanize very well and will nest anywhere," Berry said.

Other tips for keeping unwanted wildlife away include keeping pet foods in closed containers for storage rather than open ones and buying garbage cans with lids which fasten down to keep animals out.

"You may have to go to a little more trouble and expense," said Berry, "but it will be better for you and the animals."

Marilyn McQueary surveys a wild section of the USM Arboretum efforts to find out what caused the liver damage in pelicans killed during the December 1989 freeze.

Many of the young creatures people bring to the WRANPS center are not actually orphaned, Berry said.

"Spring is when the baby mammals start coming in," she explained. "A lot of people who see baby animals without a mother nearby think they have assistance.

If there is no one at the center when a telephone call comes in, an answering machine will take the call. Volunteers monitor the calls about every half hour.

Animals that are cold, wet or helpless with eyes which are still closed are much more likely to need assistance than those furred animals with eyes that are open. The latter are usually older and can survive alone.

27 volunteers who are active at the center at intervals ranging from once each month to twice a week, does have some people who take wild orphans home.

They serve as a sort of foster parent for the animals or birds, making certain they are properly nourished, but in addition, they try to minimize the exposure to humans these wild creatures face.

When the babies are healthy and become active, they are transferred to housing designed to resemble their natural habitat and are gradually exposed to freedom outdoors in order to allow it to learn feeding and other survival skills.

The process is similar to the one used at the center to rehabilitate injured adult wildlife who live in the habitat enclosures at the center. If the bird or animal is permanently disabled and would be unable to survive on its own if it is released, it is used in education programs.

During spring, WRANPS particularly needs volunteers to feed baby birds and help transport animals to the center, said Marilyn McQueary, one of the volunteers who works at the center and often takes injured adult birds into her home.

Workshops are provided to train volunteers, but individual training can be scheduled as well.

Anyone who wishes to volunteer may call 452-WILD. Volunteer meetings are held at the center on the second Saturday of each month. Because weather may postpone meetings, new

WRANPS memberships available

Wildlife Rehabilitation and Nature Preservation Society first organized in 1983 and opened its wildlife rehabilitation center in Pass Christian in May of 1987.

Within the first six months after opening, the facility received more than 400 animals, and in 1988 alone, treated more than 1,000, indicating the need for such a center.

Several different types of memberships are available for various donations and may be obtained by writing WRANPS at P.O. Box 209, Long Beach, MS, 39560.

Students may join for $5, with individual memberships for $10 and family memberships priced at $15. Anyone holding this type of membership may vote for officers, hold office, volunteer to work at the center, attend general membership or volunteer meetings and, if qualified, provide home care for appropriate animals.

They also receive a membership card and subscription to the WRANPS newsletter, The Call.

Other categories of memberships entitle the holder to various discounts on merchandise, such as T-shirts, and educational programs.

All memberships up to Supporter are for one year. Others are permanent memberships.

WRANPS center inhabitants include several types of owls

Advice offered for people transporting injured wildlife

BY DENA BISNETTE

The two most important words to remember when trying to transport injured wildlife are "be careful" for both the animal and yourself.

Wildlife Rehabilitation and Nature Preservation Society Director Robin Berry said animals can become particularly hostile when injured and are dangerous. A Hancock County man was recently injured when an owl he was trying to bring to the WRANPS center in Pass Christian got loose in his vehicle and flew into his face, causing him to run off the road.

The best thing to do is call a WRANPS volunteer at 452-WILD, she said.

If you decide to transport the animal yourself, call anyway—you need to make certain someone is there to receive the patient. Volunteers sometimes have to leave the center to take animals to veterinarians, but someone will return your call within an hour.

Berry offers the following tips in dealing with injured wildlife:

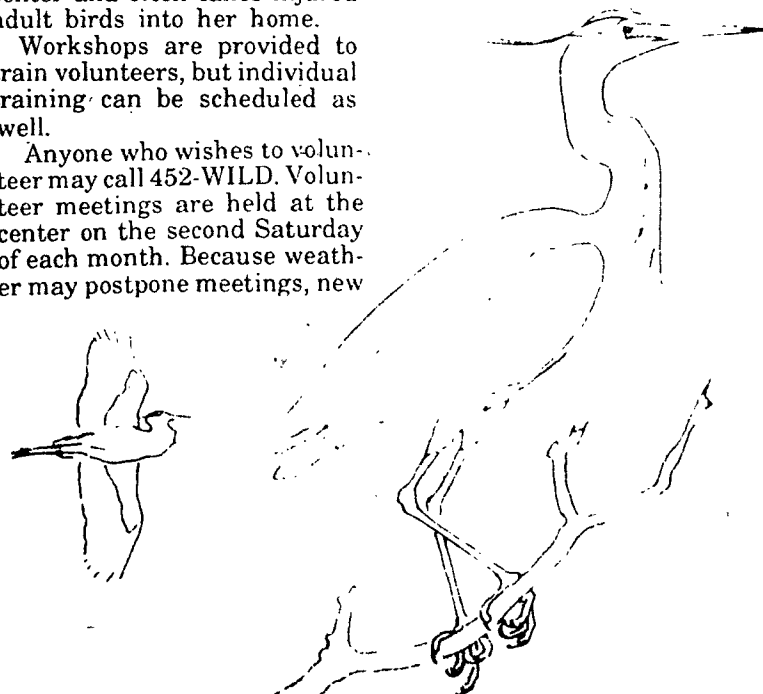

A towel, blanket or jacket can be particularly useful in catching the animal or bird, particularly an injured raptor. If a choice is available, use a lightweight item that will cover the entire animal.

Try to approach from the rear while catching wildlife and remember that it may struggle when caught. Try to allow the animal to calm down before lifting it, then place it inside a cardboard box or pet carrier large enough to allow some movement but not large enough to allow the injured wildlife to thrash around inside it.

Never attempt to capture a biting mammal, such as a raccoon. Call for assistance.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Blue Jeans Garden Club

The January meeting of the Blue Jeans Garden Club was held at the lovely home of Beverly Coogan, Bay St. Louis, with 17 members in attendance.

President Dot Feaheny welcomed members to the first meeting of the new year and asked for their continued cooperation and support.

Following the opening prayer, Mary Dana read a lovely poem, 'Make Life a Little Sweeter' by Hanche Mortenson.

Among the business completed during the busy meeting were the president's appointment of her various committee chairpersons which include:

Decorations, Alice Brechtel and Melba Felder; Telephone, Eunice Foret and Mattie Garcia; Historian, Scrapbook and Photographer, Joyce Hicks.

Parliamentarian and Publicity, Virginia Thomas; Sunshine Girl, Phil Lagasse; Luncheon and Entertainment, Mary Dana; Awards, Gladys Goodloe, Betty Klein, Beulah Peterson and Margaret Heitzmann; and 50/50, Lucille Witter.

The Blue Jeans by-laws were read and reviewed as required by the club's by-laws with much discussion.

Members voted unanimously to change the club's 1990 Christmas party and luncheon to Thursday, Dec. 13, for this year only.

Winning points for their entry in the various categories of the competition were: Potted, Jennie Ortiz; Cultivated, Eunice Foret; Dried, Beulah Peterson; and in the Horticulture Division there was a tie with Beverly Coogan and Melba Felder each winning half a point. There were no entries in the Wild or Miniature divisions.

Holding the lucky number for the 50/50 was Mary Danna. Winner of the lovely potted plant door prize was Virginia Thomas. Hostesses for the afternoon were Dot Feaheny and Lucille Witter.

Next meeting will be February 15.

State Society Daughters of the American Revolution

The 84th State Conference of the Mississippi State Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, is scheduled to take place Feb. 15-17 at the Ramada Inn in Tupelo.

DAR chapters from the Northern District will serve as hosts, with the assistance of Mrs. Peyton Crowder, district director, and Mrs. Fred Wicker, conference chairman.

Mrs. Gary Lee Carnathan, state regent, will preside over the three-day meeting and pre-conference activities.

The opening night speaker will be the NSDAR President General, Mrs. Eldred Martin Yochim. Governor and Mrs. Mabus will share the platform with Mrs. Yochim to bring greetings to the state DAR general assembly.

In addition to the business sessions, other activities include the Natchez Trace Breakfast, the National Defense/Good Citizens Luncheon, Regents' Night Banquet and the Centennial Breakfast.

Delegates from the local chapter, Friendship Oak Chapter, NSDAR who plan to attend the state conference are Mrs. James B. Brumfield, Mrs. E. George Cassis, Mrs. William J. Gemmel, Mrs. Sidney H. Ruskin and Mrs. James R. Thomas.

Pass Christian Senior Citizens

The Pass Christian Senior Citizens held their monthly birthday luncheon on Wednesday, Jan. 31. There were 37 members and guests present.

Members celebrating January birthdays were Joan Hart, Janet Cook, Lula Vella and Victoria Webb. They were recognized and everyone sang 'Happy Birthday' to them.

Special guests were Sr. Martina, Marie Wide, Barbara Talley, Paul G. Bode, James J. Cerra and Steely Beard. Sr. Martina said grace before the meal. A delicious buffet, many desserts and ice tea were served and enjoyed by all.

The next birthday luncheon will be Wednesday, Feb. 21 at the center.

CES juniors receive rings

Coast Episcopal High School presented class rings to members of the junior class at a ceremony held recently in the outdoor chapel at the school in Pass Christian.

Officiating were Reverend Bronson Bryant, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, and Miss Linda McCulloch, principal of CEHS.

Student Council president, senior Katie Grant, welcomed students and their parents. Lessons from the Bible were read by sophomore Linn Montjoy and junior Rebecca Thompson.

Junior class president Paul Bernadas expressed the feelings of the class as he spoke on the significance of the class ring and, in years to come, the memories it will stimulate.

GED classes to begin Monday

The Hancock County Adult Literacy program will begin a GED preparatory class on Monday, February 5, from 6 until 9 p.m.

This program will be ongoing through June 30 and will prepare students to take the GED tests.

Interested persons are urged to contact Ruth Krebs, Literacy program coordinator at 467-5282.

Lions Club

A new youth organization, open to all young people, ages 13 through 18, has been announced by the Hancock County Lions Club.

The Lions will sponsor a Leo Club, whose members will have the opportunity to initiate community service projects of their own choosing.

In announcing the formation of the Leo Club, Raymond Rome, Hancock County Lions Club president, noted that the young people of Hancock County have tremendous talent and energy and view the needs of the community from a definite perspective.

The Leo Club will provide them with the opportunity to join together to develop their own approaches to solving community problems.

The Lions will advise members, but they will be free to design their own projects and elect their own officers. Leos will also have their own budget.

Lions Clubs have fostered youth activities for years. Among community service groups, they are the largest single sponsors of Boy Scouts units in the world. They also operate a youth exchange and youth camp program which includes several nations.

The Leo Club program was formally adopted by the International Association of Lions Clubs in 1968 and has for its purpose the development of leadership potential and community service in young people. Friendship and mutual understanding are other essential goals of Leo Clubs.

For more information call 467-7943 or 466-2717.

Local realtors attend Legislative meeting

DEFORESTATION EFFECT - A recently, most people think of the blue sky as a symbol of purity. However, science has revealed that Earth's atmosphere is a thin, fragile cocoon that protects us from excessive solar radiation and the most damaging of pollutants.

The "Meatless Monday" episode, "Patterns in the Air" begins at 8 p.m. Monday, February 5, Mississippi ETV.

The "Meatless Monday" episode, "Patterns in the Air" explores the science of the atmosphere and the development of the greenhouse effect and the subsequent transformation of barren land into verdant forests and fertile prairies.

This episode also reveals the widespread, devastating effect modern-day deforestation can have on the global climate.

Americanism winners named

Winners have been named in a recent Americanism competition sponsored by Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5931 in Pass Christian. The theme of the competition, chaired by Liz Callahan for the ladies' auxiliary unit and Orville Callahan for the post, was "What Our Flag and Country is All About."

Essay winners in the older students' division were all fifth graders from Pass Christian Middle School and included Dayna Castenedo, Chrystal Haynes and Stacy Price.

In the younger division, all three were from Delisle Elementary School. Shatanya Cook, a fourth grader, won first place, while third graders Meagan Newiman and Zachary Byrd were second and third place winners.

Poster winners included Zachary Byrd of Delisle Elementary School third grade, Olivia R. Long of North Street Elementary's fourth grade, and Lasonia Dedeaux of Delisle's third grade class.

The two first place essays are reprinted below.

POSTER WINNERS in an Americanism contest sponsored by Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5931 in Pass Christian are displayed by Liz Callahan, auxiliary unit Americanism chair, and Orville Callahan, post American-ism chair. Including posters and essays from the older children, 1,975 entries were received. (Echo staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139

The regular monthly birthday for the residents of the Hotel Reed Nursing Center hosted by the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 139, was held on Thursday, Jan. 25, for the residents who celebrated their birthdays during the month.

Mrs. Lena Mae Oustalet played the piano while Mmes. Roslyn Weathers led the singing and Elaine Roberts and Pat Turnipseed visited and encouraged the residents to join in the activity.

Mrs. Beth Gruzinskas and her assistant, Mr. S. Compston, had the dining room decorated in the colors of Valentine's Day.

Mmes. Roberts and Turnipseed helped serve the refreshments while 'Happy Birthday' was sung and the gifts were given to the honorees who received them with big smiles.

Everyone joined in with the fun and the dining room was filled with happy people.

Mrs. Oris Planchard was absent because of illness and was missed by all.

What the Flag and Our Country Is all About

I can best describe what makes my country special by describing the way I feel when I see our flag. Just seeing the United States flag makes me proud because I can tell I am an American and I have freedom. I can do more things than other people in foreign countries. Americans have the freedom to talk about the president. People in foreign countries can not talk about their president or they might get put in prison or get killed.

I also feel happy because I can do things that other people can not do. I can pray by my bed. People in foreign countries cannot pray by their beds or worship in church. Some people think it is unfair that Americans have freedom. I think it is something we have fought for.

Seeing our stars and stripes makes me feel proud because maybe if the flag was not waving we would not have freedom. I am proud when I see the stars and stripes because I really understand what they mean.

By Shatanya Cook
Fourth Grade, DeLisle Elementary

What the Flag and Our Country Is all About

The late, great Irving Berlin wrote the song, "You're a Grand Old Flag" and captured in words and melody the way Americans feel about their flag and country. As a ten-year-old student and a proud American I'd like to try to explain the meaning behind the words of the song.

You're a Grand Old Flag... Mrs. Betsy Ross, a widowed seamstress, made the sample flag based on George Washington's design. The Continental Congress adopted it as the flag of the United States on June 14, 1777.

You're a High Flying Flag... The American Flag flies above all others at all times.

And Forever in Peace May You Wave... Peace did not come easily or cheaply. We had to fight for freedom and human rights on European fronts, Islands of the South Pacific, the near, middle and far East on land, sea, and in the air. Presently we are fighting Communist oppression throughout the world. I've learned much of this first hand from my father who served as a military officer and pilot in World War II and fought communist aggression in Korea and Vietnam.

You're the Emblem of the Land I love... The flag is a visible sign of the love I have for the freedom and opportunities available in America for all people, rich or poor!

The Home of the Free and the Brave... Americans are a mixture of people of all nationalities who value freedom. They are brave enough to fight, if necessary, to preserve their liberty. Many brave Americans paid the highest price, their lives for those valued freedoms.

Every Heart Beats True for the Red White and Blue... From the youngest to the oldest American, the sight of the red, white and blue of the flag stirs feelings deep down in your heart for all that the flag represents: freedom, courage and valor.

And There's Never a Boast or Brag... Most Americans feel it—and show respect. Unfortunately, a few don't realize what they have. They try to burn or make little of this beautiful flag. It makes me feel sad and very angry, knowing the price we paid for freedom. Hopefully some day all people will recognize and be proud of what it means.

But Should Old Acquaintance Be Forgotten... We have had the flag for a very long time and possibly need to be reminded of those values for which she stands.

So...Keep your Eye on that Grand Old Flag!

VS.
GARY CAYE, DEFENDANT

CIVIL ACTION, FILE NO. 21,031
THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI
TO: GARY CAYE, Address unknown after diligent search and inquiry.
You have been made a Defendant in the suit filed in this Court by TAMMY CAYE, Plaintiff, seeking A DIVORCE.
Defendants other than you in this action are NONE.
You are required to mail or hand deliver a written response to the complaint filed against you in this action to Cecil G. Wooten, Jr., Attorney for Plaintiff, whose address is P.O. Box 993, Gulfport, MS 39502.
Your response must be mailed or delivered not later than thirty days after the 28th day of JANUARY, 1990, which is the date of the first publication of this summons. If your response is not so mailed or delivered, a judgment by default will be entered against you for the money or other relief demanded in the complaint.
You must also file the original of your Response with the Clerk of this Court within a reasonable time thereafter.
Issued under my hand and the seal of said Court, this 25th day of January, 1990.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO FORFEIT SEIZED PROPERTY
Robert W. Barnes, Route 2, Box 112, Bay St. Louis, MS 39532; Robert W. Barnes, Route 2, Box 274, Bay St. Louis, MS 39532; and Alvin and Myrae Bank, 16192 Huxford Drive, Ocean Springs, MS 39564.
You are hereby notified that on January 5, 1990, in Hancock County, Mississippi, the property listed below was seized by the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks pursuant to Section 49-1-103 of the Mississippi Code of 1972 (Supp. 1989). Section 49-7-257 of the Mississippi Code of 1972 (Supp. 1989) provides for administrative forfeiture of property seized pursuant to Section 49-1-103 when the value of such property does not exceed five thousand dollars ($5,000.00).

DESCRIPTION OF PROPERTY: One 1978 Chevrolet Pickup 4x4, VIN: CKR140F345688; One Winchester 12 Gauge Shotgun Model 1400MKII, Serial No. N585130 and Ten Buck Shot, APPROXIMATE VALUE: $1,330.00. CONNECTION BETWEEN THE PROPERTY AND THE VIOLATION OF THE GAME AND FISH LAWS: AS SET OUT IN SECTION 49-7-103: The property described above was used either directly or indirectly in the hunting of deer at night with the aid of a lighting device.
If you wish to contest the forfeiture of this property you must file a request for judicial review. Your request for judicial review must be filed within thirty (30) days after the 4th day of February, 1990, which is the date of first publication of this notice.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR FILING A REQUEST FOR JUDICIAL REVIEW: Your request for judicial review must be in writing and must be signed. It should include a statement of your interest in the seized property and why you believe that the property should not be forfeited. All requests for judicial review should be sent by certified mail to the following address: Attorney for Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, Office of Attorney General, Post Office Box 220, Jackson, Mississippi 39205.

If you request judicial review, a Petition for Forfeiture shall then be filed by the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks in the appropriate court. If you do not request judicial review within thirty (30) days after date of first publication of this notice, the property described above will be forfeited to the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, to be used, distributed, or disposed of in accordance with the provisions of Section 49-7-255, Mississippi Code of 1972 (Supp. 1989). Dated this 1st day of February, 1990.

Teens' self-esteem must be reinforced

It is a common sight to see a young person walking down the street, looking down at the ground, or a young person sitting at a desk, looking at a piece of paper, and not knowing what to do with it. This is a sign of low self-esteem.

Self-esteem is a feeling of worth and confidence in oneself. It is a feeling that one is capable of doing things and that one is worthy of respect and love.

There are many ways to build self-esteem. One way is to set goals and achieve them. Another way is to learn new skills and use them. A third way is to help others and feel good about it.

It is important for parents and teachers to help young people build their self-esteem. They should encourage them to try new things and to be proud of their accomplishments.

Self-esteem is a feeling that one is capable of doing things and that one is worthy of respect and love. It is a feeling that one is capable of doing things and that one is worthy of respect and love.

ON ETV

PIANO PLAYERS

Produced by New Orleans' Stevenson Productions Inc. in cooperation with ETV, "Piano Players" takes the New Orleans jazz and funk blues style of the late Isidore "Tuts" Washington to the original rhythm and blues music of the late Henry "Professor" Longhair, Toussaint and Washington ever played together because Professor Longhair died two days before the scheduled performance.

In the musical biography, an intimate view of the three masters discussing their professional and personal relationships is captured during a rehearsal prior to their first scheduled performance together.

That rehearsal turned out to be the only time Professor Longhair, Toussaint and Washington ever played together because Professor Longhair died two days before the scheduled performance.

GUARD FACTS

Q. Who was the last president of the United States to serve in the Army National Guard?

A. President Harry S. Truman was a member of the Missouri Army National Guard and achieved the rank of captain prior to becoming a politician and later commander-in-chief.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Take Off Pounds Sensibly

WAVELAND

Waveland met Tuesday, Jan. 30, at the Waveland Library. Dolores Carbarera and Frances Neraise were the week's losers with two pounds each. The club honored Catherine Mathene, who has reached her KOBS status. She was presented with a certificate and a corsage.

Other club members who were acknowledged were Charlotte, who lost 42 pounds during 1989, and Jeannette Neraise who lost 38 pounds. Congratulations to the losers. Keep up the good work.

The next meeting is Tuesday at the Waveland Public Library. Weigh-ins are from 6 to 6:45 p.m. with the meeting immediately following weigh-in.

Anyone interested in losing weight the sensible way and maintaining weight loss is welcome to visit. Interested persons are invited to call Charlotte at 467-5790 for more information.
